Book Summary: Norma Hutman has created this delightful collection of stories about Margaret Sue Miller—challenged by braces and crutches, but helped to overcome her handicap by a magic plush bunny named Cup Cake. These positive and life-affirming tales will inspire children of all ages, and are perfect when read as bedtime stories. The original story, A Bunny Named Cup Cake, first appeared in 2001, and was followed in 2002 by Cup Cake has Kittens, a collection of three more stories. These stories, as well as three others, have their beginnings within the original tale. This edition of The Complete Cupcake Stories contains all these narratives as well as four others. These tales have their roots in the author's own experience, including Cup Cake, who appears on the front cover of the book, and who has been the author's companion for thirty years. Interior illustrations, from the original publications, are by Megan Foley and Rebecca M. Fullerton.

Author bio: Dr. Norma L. Hutman is professor emerita of Comparative Literature at Hartwick College (Oneonta, NY), where she taught for 32 years. She attended D'Youville College, Case Western Reserve University, the University of Madrid, and the University of Pittsburgh. Now retired, Norma directs The Snark & Bandersnatch Players (a reader's theatre) and conducts interviews on "Issues Oneonta" for the Central New York Radio Group station WZOZ. Currently learning Mandarin Chinese, she can also be found online at www.normaonline.net.

About Square Circle Press: Square Circle Press LLC is an independent publisher focusing primarily on the subjects of Freemasonry and Upstate New York history. However, the company, which was formed in 2006, also assists authors who wish to self-publish or reprint their books for a new audience.
